

Psalm Stroll for July

Our stroll hits the halfway point this month. Psalm 75 is our selection for July 18. As you look back on your readings so far, did you notice that two Psalms are almost identical twins? The second of the pair is Psalm 53. Can you find the other? Hint: search in mid-May. Do you notice any very subtle differences between the two? Why would the Bible include two Psalms that are very nearly the same? If you haven't started strolling yet, July is a great time to get going. It's never too late to dive into scripture.
